MCEDV is a member-based organization, with members across Maine offering support, services, encouragement, and hope for victim-survivors of domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, elder abuse, and sex trafficking. MCEDV supports these programs through technical assistance, training, coordination, and fund administration.

MCEDV's statewide office provides a range of training and education options for the public and systems partners, and we work with the legislature and state agencies to ensure policies are responsive to the needs of victims and survivors.

The regional domestic violence resource centers provide services to victims, their families, and the community, including:

- 24-Hour Helpline
- Safety Planning
- One-on-One Support & Advocacy
- Emergency Sheltering
- Housing Services
- Legal Advocacy & Connection to Representation
- Support Groups
- Community Education

Our culturally specific members provide specialized wraparound services to Maine's immigrant, refugee, asylum seeking and BIPOC communities.

Together, MCEDV and our members collaborate with Maine's state and community institutions and systems to support change on behalf of victim-survivors of domestic violence and to hold people who abuse accountable.

Connecting people, creating frameworks for change.
